Iranian officials have stressed the need for the further expansion of bilateral relations, especially in the commercial and economic sectors. Former German chancellor Gerhard Schroeder has said that Iran can be one of the major suppliers of gas to energy-hungry European countries.

Iranian and Russian officials have stressed the need for the further expansion of bilateral relations, especially in the commercial and economic sectors. Former German chancellor Gerhard Schroeder has said that Iran can be one of the major suppliers of gas to energy-hungry European countries.

Iranian officials have stressed the need for the further expansion of bilateral relations, especially in the commercial and economic sectors. Former German chancellor Gerhard Schroeder has said that Iran can be one of the major suppliers of gas to energy-hungry European countries.

Iranian officials have stressed the need for the further expansion of bilateral relations, especially in the commercial and economic sectors. Former German chancellor Gerhard Schroeder has said that Iran can be one of the major suppliers of gas to energy-hungry European countries.

Iranian officials have stressed the need for the further expansion of bilateral relations, especially in the commercial and economic sectors. Former German chancellor Gerhard Schroeder has said that Iran can be one of the major suppliers of gas to energy-hungry European countries.

Iranian officials have stressed the need for the further expansion of bilateral relations, especially in the commercial and economic sectors. Former German chancellor Gerhard Schroeder has said that Iran can be one of the major suppliers of gas to energy-hungry European countries.

Iranian officials have stressed the need for the further expansion of bilateral relations, especially in the commercial and economic sectors. Former German chancellor Gerhard Schroeder has said that Iran can be one of the major suppliers of gas to energy-hungry European countries.

Iranian officials have stressed the need for the further expansion of bilateral relations, especially in the commercial and economic sectors. Former German chancellor Gerhard Schroeder has said that Iran can be one of the major suppliers of gas to energy-hungry European countries.

Iranian officials have stressed the need for the further expansion of bilateral relations, especially in the commercial and economic sectors. Former German chancellor Gerhard Schroeder has said that Iran can be one of the major suppliers of gas to energy-hungry European countries.

Iranian officials have stressed the need for the further expansion of bilateral relations, especially in the commercial and economic sectors. Former German chancellor Gerhard Schroeder has said that Iran can be one of the major suppliers of gas to energy-hungry European countries.

Iranian officials have stressed the need for the further expansion of bilateral relations, especially in the commercial and economic sectors. Former German chancellor Gerhard Schroeder has said that Iran can be one of the major suppliers of gas to energy-hungry European countries.

Iranian officials have stressed the need for the further expansion of bilateral relations, especially in the commercial and economic sectors. Former German chancellor Gerhard Schroeder has said that Iran can be one of the major suppliers of gas to energy-hungry European countries.

Iranian officials have stressed the need for the further expansion of bilateral relations, especially in the commercial and economic sectors. Former German chancellor Gerhard Schroeder has said that Iran can be one of the major suppliers of gas to energy-hungry European countries.